Evan Britt, son, of Polk township was in town Tuesday making preparation for farming. Though 77 years old he is still hale and active and expects to make a hand in the field this season.

L. S. Chestetter of Albion, Iowa, was in town Saturday of last week. He wishes to purchase 300 head of three-year-old steers and expressed his willingness to pay $3.00 per hundred for good ones.

Farmers are expressing great satisfaction with the treatment they are receiving at the hands of our new milling firm. The quantity and quality of flour turned out has been a genuine surprise to many, who first patronized our mills as an experiment.

Frank Propst, J. C. Carrothers, W. J. Smith, C. L. Lewis and wife, D. N. Williams, L. R. Williams and wife, Rev. Jessie Wilson, T. A. Canady, and J. M. Parker, of Kirksville, and J. C. Shott of Novinger attended the M. E. Conference at Hannibal which convened Wednesday of last week.

A misunderstanding seems to exist in the minds of some with reference to the revival meetings that have been announced. The meetings now in progress in the rink are under the auspices of the M. E. Church, South. The Union revival meetings will begin about the 15th and will probably be held in the M. E. Church, and will be under the leadership of the world renowned Evangelist Major Jas. H. Cole.

The O. K. Line contemplates putting on an extra gang or two on track work, soon as the weather will permit. John G. Hall chief clerk, of the road department says, one gang will be made up of the grocery delivery boys who have been in "wheel barrow training" on our walks. Thinks this gang will be hard to beat and it will be a difficult matter to select a foreman as all are so proficient.

The prospect is that the contemplated college of the Cumberland Presbyterian church for the Missouri Valley will be located soon. Dr. J. B. Mitchell is in Kansas City this week on that business. He has arranged to return in time to conduct the forenoon service of next Sabbath in the church. His annual report as pastor and that of the treasurer of the congregation will be presented during that service. Miss A. M. Orr will conduct the service Sunday evening.

A Jug Breaking.

Last Saturday morning a little event transpired which produced considerable excitement - after the event was over. It was nothing more nor less than a "jug breaking." The jug was not such as are used at church socials, but the genuine, "little brown jug." The way it occurred was this: A preacher and one of our young professional men were walking up the street, evidently engaged in a heated discussion of some unscriptural topic. Suddenly the young professional's arm went out on a fly, and made a bee line for the phiz of the preacher. This aroused the Paul-like temper of the preacher and raising the jug aloft he smote the young professional, felling him to the side walk, and breaking the jug into a hundred pieces. He regained his footing in a moment and a short, sharp contest ensued which might as well as a broken jug had not Justice Snyder appeared upon the scene and separated the belligerents. Before night every piece of the jug had been carried away as a relic, and to clinch the memory of the event the street has been christened Jug Avenue.

At the school election Tuesday S. M. Link, and P. M. Smith were elected without opposition. At the city election held same day, John Richey, for mayor received 294 votes; King Wilson, colored 252 votes; Sanford Snyder 27 votes; for marshall, J. K. Moore, received 282 votes; E. F. Wheeler, 156 votes; for councilmen Edgar Bigsby of the north ward, and Henry Patterson of the south ward were elected without opposition.

Grassle Bros. will begin in a few days to enlarge their wagon factory. This is made necessary by their rapidly increasing business. The excellent material and workmanship displayed in their wagons, attract general attention, and their business is being rapidly built up. Their painter, Mr. Anson Stuart is an artist in his line, and when he puts the finishing touches on a wagon, its attractive appearance cannot be excelled. We are glad to note the increasing business of this energetic firm.

Mr. Henry Isaier, a well-to-do farmer of Linderville, made the Graphic office a pleasant call Wednesday morning. Mr. Isaier, came from Germany when thirty years of age. In the Fatherland he worked for fifteen cents a day, many times threshing grain all day with a heavy flail for that amount. For his first work in America he received $10 per month, his second year $13 per month, and the wages were so much better than in the old country that he thought he was getting rich rapidly. He now owns a good farm of 300 acres, well stocked and has reared a family of eight children. He thinks that foreigners who come here and get dissatisfied with their wages, and go into strikes should be sent back to the old country.

The following taken from the diary of Mr. J. M. Crawford will be of interest to the farmers this season, as spring is looked upon as being a little late: 1865 commenced sowing oats April 15th, good crop; 1870 commenced April 14th, average crop; 1869 sowed spring wheat April 8th, raised 15 bushels per acre, and of good quality; 1874 commenced sowing oats April 22nd, yield extra good. From the above it will be seen that it is not always necessary to sow oats in March, or even the first half of April to obtain a good crop.

DIED.

HAWKINS--At his late residence in this city, March 30th, 1888, of pulmonary disease, Rev. James L. Hawkins, aged 78 years, 8 months, 10 days.

The deceased was born in South Carolina, where he resided till about 42 years of age. He then removed to Tennessee remaining there till late in 1869 when he came to this county. Bro. Hawkins was well known throughout the county and known to be highly respected. By the call of his fellow citizens he served as one of the judges in our county court for four years and was honored by being made the presiding officer of that body. He was a man of good judgment, of strong convictions, and was firm to maintain what he believed to be right. Unsullied integrity marks the history of his life. As a citizen, neighbor and friend he was highly esteemed and will be very much missed in his large circle of acquaintances. In his social relations Bro. Hawkins was true and affectionate, filling home with comfort and happiness to his companion and children. He lived to become a ripened sheaf, ripe in years and ripe in saving grace, and hence was ready to be gathered home. He trusted in Christ for salvation in his early life and was faithful to Him during his long earthly sojourn. He was a beloved member and minister of the Protestant Methodist Church and was true to his life calling as a preacher of the gospel till disabled by the weight of years and disease. His last and rather protracted illness was attended with much feebleness of body, but he was strong in faith, giving glory to God for his sustaining and joyous presence. He passed from earth peacefully resting on Jesus as his salvation. Of his departure hence we may well say:
"Sure the last end
Of the good man is peace! How calm his exit!
Night dews fall not more gently to the ground
Nor weary worn-out winds expire so soft!
Blessed are they who die in the Lord!"

BAKER--Near Killwinning, Mo. Tuesday, April 3d, of pneumonia Mrs. Baker, wife of J. S. Baker, formerly of this place. Funeral took place from the M. E. church in this city Thursday afternoon.

A Tribute to Col. McKissock by a Former Employee.

Important to the Public.

In the death of Col. Thomas McKissock the employees of the C. B. & O. Ry., have lost a friend indeed, one that can hardly be replaced, he being always ready to hear the complaints of all and to right matters wherein injustice had been done by a subordinate. However trivial these matters seemed to others, he interested himself therein and gave words of comfort and cheer and good fatherly advice where needed.

The Globe Democrat may well say of him, "The employees of the roads, numbering into the tens of thousands were all his friends. It is doubtful if any of the men who ever worked under Col. McKissock will say to-day that he was not one of the kindest and most considerate of employers they ever knew." Traveling salesmen by scores have said it would be hard to find another as well liked by the employees and the public.

The writer hereof and members of his family are debtors to him for favors received at his hands and shall ever hold his name in grateful remembrance. He was slow to forget any service rendered the company he served, how ever humble the party rendering it might be as the following incident will show: The engine house at Salisbury, Mo., caught fire at the midnight hour and so confused the watchman that he left the engine in the house and ran to wake the engineer; a little colored boy fifteen or sixteen years old, staying with the watchman, climbed up and took hold of the throttle and backed the engine out of the house, thereby saving it. Before the engineer had arrived the house had fallen in. The Colonel on hearing of it wrote to know what the boy wanted. His answer was: "a pass to St. Louis and return." This was promptly given with a request to call at his office. On his return he interviewed him and he remarked: "Why 'Boss' he just talked to me like I was old people and thanked me ever so much."

The good people of Salisbury were remembered by him every recurring St. Louis fair in way of complimentary passes to St. Louis and return on account of entertaining passengers wrecked near there. While all bills were paid that were presented, yet he never forgot the kindness shown the company's patrons while in distress.

The ways of God seem strange and inexplicable to us that one so useful, a philanthropist, a friend to the oppressed should be taken when prepared to do so much good. May all his fellow laborers follow his example and try to emulate his character.
